MERCURY DOWN TO 15 AS SNOW COVERS CITY

Belated Cold Weather Brings 41-Degree Drop; Most of State Hit.

The little man who wasn't there, was a piker compared to the spring. Marionites decided this morning when they awoke to find lawns covered with three inches of snow, sidewalks coated with ice and the weather now freezing.

Freezing temperatures and heavy snows were general throughout northern Ohio today and most of the rest of the state had rain or light snow, The Associated Press reported.

Marionites will have to continue to clear down on depleted coal bins tonight, according to the federal forecast of continued cold. "Not so cold" weather is predicted for Saturday.

Last night's return to winter weather sent the mercury in the official thermometer to 15 degrees above zero, Observer E. H. Rattensperger reported.

It was one of the coldest April nights on record here. Official records show that it matched previous lows recorded in 1907 and 1911.

41-Degree Drop

The unusual cold was more marked because it was a 41-degree drop from yesterday's high of 56. A year ago today the maximum was 52 and minimum 23.

At the Erie railroad yards west of Marion, the weather chart showed a low of 18 at 5 a. m. today. The mercury remained at 18 until 7:30 when it went up two degrees. It shot up six degrees at 8 and remained at 24 until 10 a. m., when it advanced another two degrees.

The drop last night was gradual, according to the chart. At 9 the reading was 30, and from then until 5 this morning the principal drops registered as follows: 9:30, 25 degrees; 11, 28 degrees; midnight, 25 degrees; 1:30 a. m., 24 degrees; 2 a. m., 23 degrees; 4 a. m., 22 degrees.

The three inches of snow last night followed a cloudy day and rainfall measuring 1.05 inches, one of the heaviest single rainfalls recorded here for several months.

Plows Out of Storage

With the snow came troubles for highway departments.

The state highway department maintenance crews, who had stored snow plows for the season, didn't feel too friendly toward "Miss Spring" when all four plows had to be brought out last night and put to work.

The state highway crews worked virtually all night, plowing and sanding, officials said. Regular crews were able to handle the job and by 10 this morning the pavements had begun to thaw, it was reported.

The county's heavy equipment was not brought out but crews of

FIRST WORK STARTS ON CCC CAMP SITE

Well Drilling Gets Under Way in Good Water Area.

First actual work on preparing the site for the civilian conservation corps camp which is to be established southeast of Marion about June 1 got under way yesterday as well-drilling operations started.

The work done by E. N. Longberry of north of Marion, did not progress very far before inclement weather halted the drilling at about 30 feet. With good weather, Mr. Longberry said he probably will be finished in about a week.

The outlook for striking a good water supply is extremely favorable, the county engineer's office reported today. At the county seat east of the CCC camp site, which adjoins the county yards of the Progressive grange hall on Richmond pike, there is a well which can supply 200 gallons of water a minute without much difficulty. The CCC camp well is supposed to bring in 40 gallons a

Germans Gain Advantage By Campaign Into Norway

Compared with the United States, Scandinavia is small. The iron mines that started the trouble are in the north of Sweden. Germany invaded Norway at points along the southern and western coasts.

Military as Well as Economic Gains of Move North Seen by Neutral Observers.

By ALEXANDER E. GEORGE, AP Feature Service Writer and Veterans Observer of Military Affairs.

WASHINGTON, April 12.—Germany's lightning invasion of Denmark and Norway gives her the military whiphand, temporarily at least, on the northern front.

By getting the jump on the Allies in the Scandinavian sector, the Nazis are in a position to:

Put up speedy resistance against any attempt by the British and French to threaten Germany's Swedish ore supplies.

Extend the Nazi spearhead of submarine and aerial offensive against Britain.

Booster Germany's defense of the Skagerrak and Kattegat waterways, guarding the approach to the Baltic.

Cut off Scandinavian supplies that have been going in large quantities to Britain.

Long Haul For Allies

British naval guns, "covering" landing parties, probably can outrange such fixed-coast artillery as the Germans may wrest from the Norwegians. However, the Nazis could bring up sufficient artillery and machine guns in time to deal soldiers in small landing boats a terrific strangle.

Even if the Allies succeeded in getting a foothold, the Germans probably could rush reinforcements into Norway via Denmark faster than the British could transport.

BERLIN CLAIMS BRITAIN BOMBS NAZI RAILWAY

Germans Hint at Reprisals If Such Acts Are To Be Expected.

By The Associated Press.

BERLIN, April 12.—DNB, German official news agency, reported today that British warplanes had bombed a German railway station in Schleswig-Holstein and intimated that reprisals might be expected if such bombings were repeated. The agency said the raid had given "a new aspect to the war."

The identity of the town was not disclosed, but DNB said that the tracks had been broken in one place and that the station was slightly damaged.

The news agency called the raid the first allied attempt since the beginning of the war to damage transportation outside the active combat area.

(Schleswig-Holstein is located in the northern part of Germany near the Danish border, across which German troops marched earlier in the week.)

"If a repetition of this act should show it is part of a systematic new policy on the part of the British," DNB said, "the German air force will face the new situation."

Reveal British Air Aids

Announcement of the British air raid was made as Nazi military commanders boasted of new successes against allied naval and sea forces attempting to shake loose Germany's lightning grip on Norway.

British air raids on Trondheim and Stavanger were beaten off and one Vickers Wellington bomber was shot down, a communique asserted.

The military occupation of Norway was said to be proceeding "according to systematic schedule."

Authorized sources said the authority of King Haakon still was recognized in Berlin, but that he would forfeit this recognition if he left Norwegian soil.

Discarded Wine In Rubbish Lands Haulers in Jail

Because they found a jug of wine on a pile of rubbish, discarded by a West Side family and, according to a city official, decided to sample it, two city garbage department employees were arrested by police yesterday, one charged with drunken driving and the other with intoxication.

Police said the two men, Ralph Graff, 44, of 696 May street and Ernest Abrams, 41, of 381 Park street, were arrested after a city rubbish truck driven by Graff figured in a collision on West Center street with a car driven by E. O. DeWees, sergeant of the Erie railroad police.

This morning both pleaded guilty before Municipal Judge Hazen. Abrams was fined $10 and costs for intoxication and Graff was fined $100 and costs on a charge of driving while intoxicated. His driving rights were revoked for six months.

Safety-Service Director Clyde C. Caldwell said that during an investigation of the case he was told the men found the wine while collecting rubbish early yesterday morning and drank a portion of it while making their morning rounds. They were en route to the city dump on Owens street when the accident occurred.

Mr. Caldwell said he received reports from witnesses that neither Graff nor Abrams had been drinking when they started on their morning rounds yesterday.

Police investigating the accident said Mr. DeWees suffered a minor neck injury but that nothing was badly damaged.

The accident occurred as Mr. DeWees' car was backing out of a driveway on Owens street. Caldwell said the car was backing out of a driveway on Owens street.

JUDGMENT IN DRUNKEN DRIVING CASE REVERSED

Marion Court Finding Declared Against Weight of Evidence.

Judgment of municipal court in the case of Pat Kelly of Columbus, who had been found guilty on a charge of drunken driving, has been reversed by a ruling handed down by Common Pleas Judge A. V. Beaumont of Fremont, according to an entry filed in common pleas court.

Mr. Kelly was arrested by Marion police about two years ago.

Judge Beaumont, who heard the case several months ago after it was appealed to common pleas court, ruled that the judgment of municipal court was against the weight of the evidence.

W. P. Mahoney represented Mr. Kelly.

Battle To Oust Nazis Gathers Headway Today

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

The second vital phase of the battle for Norway—the allied attempt to oust the German invaders and gain control of this land of fjords and mountains—gathered headway today.

The first phase, the bloody and destructive naval battle which grew out of the Nazi occupation, still continues with the Anglo-French naval forces at this writing recording a very considerable victory.

Nothing was reported overnight to controvert the claim by Britain's first lord of the admiralty Winston Churchill that England still ruled the waves.

To secure the benefit of their naval success, however, the Anglo-French brotherhood, co-operating with Norwegian regular troops and rugged volunteers armed with shovels and whit-no, must clear the country of German troops.

That will involve the landing of allied expeditionary forces—a heroic and sanguinary business.

Churchill yesterday said that Hitler's invasion of Norway "has doubled the efficiency of the allied blockade." That figure sounds rather high, but the first lord did not explain how he arrived at the estimate. In any event, he perhaps before they are hatched, for the allies most certainly must oust the Germans from Norway in order to cash in on their naval triumph.

Speed is the essential in allied landing operations. If the Germans succeed in entrenching themselves it will be a herculean task to eject them.

Apart from the actual military and naval effect of this great battle, there is bound to be a very far-reaching psychological effect on the small neutrals. A clear-cut victory for either side will raise the stock of that belligerent immensely.

The possibility of further explosions continues strong. Sweden is in grave danger; Holland has prepared for eventualities; and the Balkans fear invasion—an anxiety which is fully justified.

If the war flames sweep the Balkans, Signor Mussolini will find his position of non-belligerency very hard to maintain.

HOLLAND TAKES STAND TODAY

Reviews Business Career; Marion Men Called as Character Witnesses.

Special to The Star.

TROY, O., April 12.—Gustav A. Holland, former Marion mill official on trial for an arson charge in connection with the $100,000 Holland Mill fire at Plaquemine, took the stand today and recounted his career in business.

At noon recess he had not yet been questioned regarding the fire. He is accused of having induced William Dowdy, young Plaquemine mill worker, to set the mill on fire in order to destroy competition against his own business, the Holland Pioneer Mills. Dowdy, star witness for the state, has finished testifying and is back in Mansfield reformatory where he is serving time for firing the mill.

Special Blessing Conferred by Pope on Galion Priest

Special to The Star.

GALION, April 12.—During the services Thursday morning at St. Joseph's Catholic church which opened the golden jubilee celebration of Rev. Father Augustine H. Schreiner word came in a telegram that Pope Pius XII, had conferred special apostolic blessings on Father Schreiner and his people in recognition of his golden jubilee. The telegram was received Wednesday from the Most Reverend Archbishop Amleto Giovanni Cicognani, apostolic delegate to the United States. It was read during the services yesterday by Bishop Karl J. Alter of Toledo who presided in Cappa Magna at the solemn high mass at 10 a. m.

Monsignor R. C. Goebel of Mansfield was archpriest during the services and deacons of honor were Father W. J. Killoran of St. Patrick's Catholic church of Galion and Rev. William Sosong of New Washington. Father Leo Griffin of Toledo, secretary to the bishop, served as master of ceremonies.

Father Schreiner was celebrant for the mass. Rev. Father John R. Forrer of Upper Sandusky was his deacon and Rev. Father Leo Reinartz of Bucyrus, sub-deacon. Father Nugent acted as master of ceremonies. The jubilee preacher was Monsignor Goebel, who paid high tribute to Father Schreiner.

Thirty boys from St. Peter's school, Mansfield, sang the entire mass. Ray E. Baum was at the organ. This was preceded with a procession from Father Schreiner's home to the church.

At noon a dinner was held at

7 GERMAN WARSHIPS REPORTED TRAPPED; NORSE CIRCLE OSLO

By The Associated Press

STOCKHOLM, April 12.—Seven German warships were reported in Norwegian waters today to be bottled up in Oslo's harbor and Norwegian, trying to seal their conquered capital within an iron ring, expected important action at any moment.

Trondheim Considered Logical Attack Point

LONDON, April 12.—The central Norwegian port of Trondheim, in whose deep fjord a naval battle was reported in progress, was picked today by neutral experts as the most likely base from which British, French and Norwegian troops might seek to scourge the German invaders into the sea.

(The German command reported that British planes and light naval forces attacking Trondheim were driven off.)

The royal air force, badly backing up the navy's efforts to destroy every German ship, reported the bombers had blown up an 8,000-ton Nazi munitions carrier in a hold-rail on the straits linking the Baltic sea and the Kattegat.

Other Possibilities

As British military bases, four other ports besides Trondheim were seen as possibilities, because they are on railroads.

They are Narvik, north of Trondheim; Aandalsnes, on Romsdals fjord to the south; Narvik, in the Arctic; and Bergen, in the southwest.

Trondheim, however, with railroads leading north, south and east, and situated on a wide inlet that stretches nearly across Norway, was described as the best jump-off point as military strategists and British war office "brains" pored over maps to visualize a land campaign, which must follow the present widespread sea warfare between the British and German fleets.

Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, assured military men in his house of commons speech yesterday that Britain still was mistress of the seas and that the navy was well able to maintain lines of supply and to cover landings of expeditionary forces.

SPRING DRIVE

Suspension of the Rules

THE spring drive, later than expected, finally has started. Cynics may be right in saying the belligerents have found a battleground conveniently remote from their own front yards. At the same time, skeptics inclined to doubt that things ever are done the way officials would prefer to have them done, may insist the explosion in Scandinavia is going to turn out disastrously for both sides.

The picture of the new phase of the war, intentionally muddled by censorship and distorted by its own vastness and incompleteness, cannot yet be grasped. The static war has resolved itself at last into a war of action. Only that is certain.

Perhaps there is one clear conclusion, however. Germany has committed naked aggression without resort to any pretense of legality. There was no prelude of mumbo-jumbo to invasion of Denmark and Norway, no dickering, no pact of Munich, no concession to "appeasement." Germany had no "grievance" against the Danes and Norwegians.

The rules of international behavior, such as they have become in an era of callous misbehavior, simply were suspended. The last clinching nail was driven into the coffin containing the battered remains of international law and rights of small nations.

If any neutral government still was deluding itself with hope of security, surely the delusion must be shattered now. There is no code of conduct remaining in Europe, except the code of dog eat dog. Even the Allies had made plain to the befuddled Norwegians that Mars had supplanted Croesus as the final authority on international rights.

American Nerves

SIMULTANEOUSLY, two signs of the increasing tension of American nervousness over Europe appeared, following occupation of Denmark and Norway and the beginning of active fighting.

National defense fears began to circulate more freely, and some over-anxious—or perhaps opportunistic—New Dealers yammered that the new turn of the war made a third term for President Roosevelt inevitable.

These symptoms, important in themselves, are more important as reminders that a hard test of American convictions is approaching. When the war started, far-sighted observers predicted the neutrality of the United States would be in jeopardy as soon as it appeared that the Allies were being cuffed about by the German military juggernaut.

Emotion would do what judgment could not do—persuade the American public that it was desirable and necessary to repeat its World War adventure. Perhaps the forecast was too bitter; it may be that the World War lesson was learned too well; it's possible that isolation is only a vain hope with which Americans kid themselves until further kidding is out of the question.

From what can be understood of the results of the fighting so far, it seems likely a definitive conclusion may be reached soon on the new northern front. A few weeks, a month at the most, may resolve the doubts of Allied ability to withstand Germany's bold thrust. If they do withstand it, Nazi Germany will lose prestige as a modern conqueror. Some of the fear engendered by its so far uninterrupted successes will disappear. Americans would breathe more easily.

One Jump Behind

DICTATORSHIPS are primarily designed for military efficiency. They are streamlined for fighting, for moving quickly—highly specialized implements of destruction. Parliamentary governments, on the other hand, are designed for deliberation; they are adapted for peace and rise to the exigencies of war only with great difficulty.

Throughout the war and the pre-war period, Britain and France have been one jump behind the opposition, which has determined what moves should be made and has made them first on every occasion. While it was being foreseen that the Allies might make a battleground of Scandinavia, an obvious detail of strategy, Germany was on the march.

The Allies had lost one more chance to take the lead. They had been placed at a disadvantage again, though not at an insuperable disadvantage as they were in Austria, in Poland and Paris that the chance to fight was welcomed by the governments and the British and French populations.

England always loses every battle except the last one. The axiom is being repeated by sympathizers for what it is worth. Sympathizers hope, nevertheless, that in some way or other the fighting on the new front may give the Allies the advantage they need to back up their claim of being able to resist a government designed solely for the purpose of waging war.

News Behind the News

Inability of Landing Agencies To Yield President's Estimates Is Blow to Budget.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 12.—The Roosevelt budget has blown another fuse, which leaves it practically in complete darkness. The news from the cellar may come out when the budget bureau answers the Byrd resolution adopted by the senate asking where Mr. Roosevelt is going to get the $700,000,000 from lending agencies in which he predicated the budget.

Those who have been below a table have learned that Mr. Jesse Jones, the lending administrator, has professed himself unable to furnish more than one-half the cash the President expected to recover from R.F.C. The $700,000,000 budget estimate was based on the expectation of getting more than one-half of it, $400,000,000, from Jones, but he has informed the budget he can furnish no more than $200,000,000.

Current executive policy is to cover these and other budgetary mistakes and deficiencies as deeply as possible until after the election next winter when a thorough overhauling of fiscal policy will have to be started no matter who is elected.

Dewey Aids Arrive

Mr. Dewey's brain trust has made a blitzkrieg on Washington.

Two or three of his economic advisers moved into town a few days back and established themselves in a hotel a block and a half from the White House and half that distance from the Republican national committee headquarters. They are looking up some background economic material to write some new music for the boy wonder.

Excuses

British excuses are superior to any yet offered in the war, and the one they have passed on to our people explaining what happened to let the German fleet loose from the blockaded Skagerrak is no exception.

The Germans just picked unusually thick weather. They moved northward in heavy seas covered with fog and darkness. Their six destroyers, for instance, went into the mountain-mound harbor of Narvik in a blinding snowstorm.

To clear the way for this movement, the Germans had conducted heavy and successful bombing attacks upon the British scouting forces all along the Danish-Norwegian coast, for weeks prior to the movement.

They struck more forcefully at Oslo, not alone because it is the capital but because it has an excellent landing field. Their first step on arrival was to organize the field as a new base for bombing raids against the British fleet, a maneuver which easily exceeds in brilliance and effectiveness anything in modern warfare.

Strategists Fooled

United States military strategists were stunned by the craftily executed German grasp for Scandinavia. By all military accounts, Hitler should have moved south in the Balkans. The task would have been less dangerous and the ultimate gain, both from a military and an economic standpoint, would have been greater. It was the first German military move that has not made complete sense to them.

Hull's Helpers

Mr. Hull is due all the credit he is getting for successfully engineering the trade treaty program through the eye of the needle. However, he may have to pass a reward on the side to two unnoticed parties.

The five-vote margin in the senate was contributed by five unpurged purges whom Mr. Roosevelt attempted to extract from their jobs: Byrd, George, Tydings, Smith and Bailey.

A Republican representative, Harold Knutson of Minnesota, is probably responsible for saving the program from exemption. As the bill was pending in the house, Republicans lined up in strength behind an amendment proposing to exempt copper, coal, lumber and oil from Mr. Hull's trade jurisdiction. Knutson moved among them urging that they abandon the amendment. He reasoned that the exemptions might make the Hull program satisfactory to a number of western states vital in the fall elections. The Republican strength drifted away and the amendment which would otherwise have passed was defeated.

Sign

A war official has had in his desk a printed sign which he exhibits solemnly to all who come from time to time to ask him his opinion on the repeated collapse of small neutrals, Poland, Finland, Denmark, and Norway, in the face of aggression. It reads: "The neutrality of no nation in the world today is more secure than its armament."

The Scandinavian Rulers

All Have Had Long Reigns, Two Are Brothers.

GUSTAV V
King of Sweden

By The Associated Press
THREE aged Scandinavian monarchs, who kept their nations neutral during the vicissitudes of the World War, now are face to face with the grim realities of war despite constant efforts to avoid being drawn into the maelstrom.

King Gustav V of Sweden, the oldest of the trio, now nearly 82 years old, has been on the throne nearly 33 years; King Christian X of Denmark, nearly 70 years old, has ruled for 28 years and King Haakon, VII of Norway, 68, has reigned 34 years.

Christian and Haakon are brothers, sons of King Frederick VII of Denmark.

Gustav Against Pomp.
King Gustav became one of the most democratic monarchs of Europe during and after the World War. When he was crowned king of Sweden he refused to endure any of the pomp with which the ascension is usually attended.

He once did a day's work as a stevedore during a strike at Stockholm. Even in late years he was noted as an excellent tennis player.

When Gustav assumed the throne in December, 1907, the union of Norway and Sweden had been dissolved. He was well trained for the situation for, as crown prince of both Sweden and Norway, he had grown up in both countries.

Gustav is of the Bernadotte line—so-called from one of Napoleon's generals—the ruling house of Sweden which was established in 1818. In 1861 Gustav married Princess Victoria of Baden,

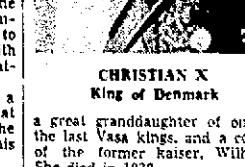

HAAKON VII
King of Norway

By The Associated Press
A great granddaughter of one of the last Vasa kings, and a cousin of the former Kaiser, Wilhelm. She died in 1920.

A Democratic Ruler.
King Christian of Denmark as World War sovereign established the policy which kept his little country neutral. He mixes freely with his subjects, without retinue or body guard. His tall, spare courtly figure on horseback is a frequent sight among the crowds.

Politically, he gave women electoral rights and became the nation's foremost goodwill ambassador.

CHRISTIAN X
King of Denmark

He was married April 26, 1898, to Princess Alexandra of Mecklenburg.

Old Name Revived.
King Haakon is the first independent monarch of Norway in more than 450 years. Before he became king his realm had been ruled by joint kings, with Denmark from 1450 to 1814 and with Sweden from 1814 to 1905.

In taking the name Haakon he revived a royal name that had been dormant for more than 500 years. He married, July 22, 1894, Princess Maud, third daughter of the late King Edward VII of Great Britain. She died Nov. 30, 1938.

Whose Fault in Norway?

Question of Aggressor Another Puzzler for Historians.

HISTORIANS have been handed another tough nut to crack in the question of aggression against Norway. The Allies and Germany each claim the other side made the first move. However that may be, Germany won the first advantage.

It recalls another argument, still unsettled, which began with Germany's invasion of Belgium in 1914. The German government explained it violated Belgian neutrality because it possessed indisputable evidence the opposition intended to use Belgium to launch an offensive.

While no one except Germans believed the statement, it is significant that Germans still believe it today. In all probability they will be able to close their eyes also to the evidence in the Norwegian case; they will continue to think that Norway's neutrality was violated by the Allies because Germany did only what it thought it had to do to keep the enemy from getting the jump.

The known sequence of events indicates, however, that Germany has laid careful plans to seize territory in Denmark and Norway, that the Allies got wind of the plans and in last minute desperation tried to thwart the Nazi move.

ON Monday, newspaper readers learned that the British were sowing mines in Norwegian waters, thus violating Norway's neutrality. While it is true in this war as it was in the World War that Norway suffered heavily at the hands of German submarines its efforts to maintain neutrality had been unrelenting.

Without any further evidence, it might be assumed that Britain's mine sowing was the first overt move against Norwegian's neutral policy. But there was further abroad. He was married April 26, 1898, to Princess Alexandra of Mecklenburg.

Mrs. Agnes Knapp of East Church street left for a visit with her daughter in Phoenix, Ariz.

Mrs. T. J. McGrath of East Mark street left for a month's visit with friends in Texas.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

It was Monday, April 12, 1920. Karne Ferguson, president of the Harding for President Traveling Men's club, visited Marion. He said his organization had a membership of 1,300 and was growing steadily.

The feature picture at the Grand theater was "Sadie Love," starring Billie Burke and at the Marion the feature picture was "The Miracle Man" with Thomas Meighan, Betty Compson, Lon Chaney, J. M. Dumont and Joseph J. Dowling in the leading roles.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Thomas of Chase street.

Four ordinances for street paving which had been passed by council were returned without the approval of Mayor T. E. Andrews, who sent a communication explaining that he disapproved the proposed projects because of the shortage and high cost of material and labor together with the city's unfavorable financial condition.

He voiced the opinion that due to these circumstances no improvement projects should be undertaken at that time except those absolutely necessary to public health and safety.

A Few Words on Maintenance in the Competitive of Eating for Nothing.

By DAMON RUNY

IN A discussion among some young experienced free loaders recently, it was raised as to the ethics of with the host on any topic that may table or over the canapes. A free confirmed guest. He is the man who willing to come to dinner.

Personally, we do not consider an ethical proposition at all. It is a diplomatic, and diplomatic should always be one of the first considerations of the free loader if he has any regard for his art.

As a rule, a host likes to be agreed with, or he would not be a host. If he wanted people to disagree with him, he would not bother assembling them at some expense about a table with him. He would step down to the corner and find plenty of disagreement at no cost, except perhaps a doctor's bill.

Young free loaders should always remember this psychology. When the host is at the head of the table, the free loader should give off wisdom, a few terse observations of his. He should never go beyond half a at time because lengthier comments necessitate the host pausing, and a host like to pause. We offer, not as a but as suggestions for the free following:

1. You're a hummer puh cent' right?
2. Absolutely.
3. Positively.
4. I understand.
5. Of course.
6. Yes.

WE think No. 4 is the best of the young free loader just starting career. It suggests that he is intelligent that the host's remarks have a flat Veteran free loaders usually reduce to an occasional nod of the head, them to maintain their free load interruption, while at the same time complete agreement with the host.

If there is also a hostess present, glances at her from time to time, a dish and nods and smiles to indicate that this free loading stuff worthy. You can usually identify a veteran by a crease across the back of his excessive nodding.

We believe it impolite ever to a host, even though the free loading is such mediocre quality as to make the wholly indifferent about a return. It is an old trick of veteran free loaders up an argument with a host who not of the best, just to escape future at his board. We say there is always improvement.

WE remember a host in Wilmington who had a terrible cook. She the free loaders got to taking is host as soon as he started in pausing. Naturally, he eliminated the invitation list. Then he married a as she refuses to do any further work the pots and pans he had to get a cooking became the wonder of the. The banned free loaders almost hearing of the marvels they were.

Even when a host presents his in bad restaurants it is best to be in our opinion. He may one day taunts. We do not hold with the poor free loading is better than no at all, but we do believe in stringing until it is a dead sure thing there hope for him. You have to be fair.

As a matter of fact, many veterans are quite choosy about their hosts on knowing what is on the menu. ing an invitation. We recently heard in Hollywood, Calif., who declined next to a certain hostess because his appetite. We must say we concur technical.

THE free loading in Hollywood to be the best in the United States in the private homes of the inmates capital. It is said that Hollywood a higher degree than any other of the country the true science of home. The veteran free loaders of the different homes rated according to their free loading.

MARY PICKFORD EYES CAMEBACK IN MOVIES

Former Star Says She Will Make Picture This Summer.

The Associated Press
HOLLY HILLS, Calif., April 12.—Mary Pickford, 47, is getting so close to making a comeback in movies that she is planning to make a picture this summer, perhaps the first picture in her career since 1933.

She said in an interview, "I can't tell you the name of the story, yet. But I will be co-starring with two, perhaps three, other women. There will be one male star."

Friends keep telling her the public would like to have her back, she said.

(It was reported that American rights to the notable French film, "End of a Day," were under consideration. Theater men said the picture had a role "made to order" for Miss Pickford.)

Miss Pickford's last role was in "Secrets," released in 1933. Since then she has produced two films, "The Gay Desperado" and "One Rainy Afternoon," but she played in neither.

She was 47 last Monday.

and thus we were able to make good her boast that in 10 min- utes we would be in my father's room, ready to start for the call he had asked us to make on Miss Annie Carman, the aged recluse whose family originally had owned the farm where we were now living.

My father looked over us when we came into the room, and then nodded his approval.

"Your costumes are perfect," he said. "Smart, but extremely con- servative. I have no doubt that Miss Carman will give you her highest accolade, that you are 'gentle-women'."

"I hope so," Lillian said de- pendently. "They say she's the most cantankerous old dame in all Long Island, so proud of her family that it's almost a disease with her."

"And yet," I said hesitantly, "she was very sweet to me on the only occasion I ever saw her. She was out in that big yard of hers, and her cat ran out of the gate and down the sidewalk outside. I was passing in the car, and heard her calling "Kitt, kitt," so frantically it was really pitiful the panic in her voice."

New Angle
"Of course, being you, you stopped the car," Lillian said. "Chief, this is a saga. I'll bet this gives us an inside track."

"Perhaps," my father said, watching me. "What did you do, Margaret, after you stopped the car? I agree with Lillian that in all probability you did that."

"Yes, I did," I said flushing. "I asked her if there was anything I could do to help. She stopped and pulled a sprig of catnip and handed it to me with a breathless urgency."

"I'm lame," she said. "I can't move fast. Perhaps you could coax her back with this."

"She handed me the sprig of catnip, and I set off down the street after the cat. It was a long chase but I finally got the cat to follow me back to Miss Carman."

"I have rarely seen such joy on a woman's face. She insisted that I come into the house and have some tea, but though I was wild to see the inside of the place, I had an urgent errand and didn't dare take the time. I promised I would come to tea some other time, but I never have gone."

"If you only had," Lillian groaned. "You always charm old ladies out of their wits. You'd have had her eating out of your hands by now."

"I hope," my father said, worriedly, "that she won't resent your not coming before."

"And get it into her head that all we want now is to get some- thing out of her," Lillian chimed in.

SPEEDSTER

A new record over a 2,000-kilometer (about 1,242 miles) course is claimed by Jacqueline Cochran (above), who flew from Mt. Wilson, Calif., to a pylon near Albuquerque, N. M., and return, in 3 hours, 44 minutes and 47 seconds.

in. "But there's no use worrying about it. I'm banking on Madge. If anybody can save the day, she can."

"I'll try my best," I said, as I had promised my father before, but I felt my mental barometer descending rapidly as we left my father and went down to the armored car waiting for us, with one guard driving and another on the seat facing us.

"Wonder what on earth she'll make of this outfit?" Lillian asked as we were borne swiftly down the road. "And how do you suppose old Bates induced her to agree to this interview? Do you suppose she remembered you from the cat incident?"

"I don't know," I returned a bit abstractedly, for I was re- volving in my brain the only plan I felt that had any possibility of succeeding in getting Miss Car- man's approval, and I was not sure I had the right to employ it.

And then we had turned into the street on which stood Miss Carman's home, and at last, with the guards instructed to wait for us, we were on the steps of the house sounding the century-and-more-old knocker.

WARDEN OPENS DRIVE ON UNLICENSED DOGS

Approximately 500 Animals Believed Unregistered.

A drive against the harboring of unlicensed dogs in Marion county is being launched by County Dog Warden Elmer Ullom. There may be as many as 500 dogs for which owners have not yet obtained 1940 registra- tions, Warden Ullom reported.

Since the new licenses first were issued in January a total of 5,207 have been sold, according to records in the office of County Auditor Harry V. Mounds. Last year 5,708 licenses were sold, in- dicating that many dogs now are unregistered, officials pointed out.

Registration fees for animals less than three months old are $1 for males or spayed females and $3 for females. Licenses for dogs older than three months have been subject to an added $1 penalty since the expiration of the license sale period.

Our 3 pound introductory offer on Jaeger's 21c Coffee last week was very gratifying.

We feel, however, that many people prefer to buy one pound of coffee at a time and with this in mind, and also to get universal introductory distribution in Marion, we are making this one pound offer.

Remember, Jaeger's 21c Coffee Will Always Sell at 21c, and There Will Be No More Specials On It!

Father Addressed 1929 Harding High Graduates

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 12—William Sockman, 22, son of Rev. Ralph W. Sockman, Ohio-born pastor of Christ Methodist church, is dead.

The youth, a former Harvard student, jumped or fell to his death yesterday from a window of his parents' seventh-floor Park avenue home.

Detectives quoted his aunt, the only other person in the apartment at the time, as saying he was forced by nervous disorders to relinquish studies after two years at Harvard. In his pockets were a receipt for his enrollment at Columbia university last Feb. 8 and a check from his father for $117, dated April 10.

Dr. Sockman, a native of Mt. Vernon, O., was in Texas and his wife was on Long Island.

Dr. Sockman gave the commencement address to the Harding High school class of 1929 on June 7. At that time he was pastor of the Madison Avenue Methodist church in New York City. He is a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware.

CALLS WHEELER ONLY ANTI-WAR CANDIDATE

Senator Clark of Idaho Backs Montanan.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 12—Senator Clark (D-Idaho) put forward Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) today as the only presidential candidate who has promised unreserved opposition to American involvement in the European war.

Replying to the argument of third term advocates that events abroad make it mandatory for President Roosevelt to run again, Clark asserted in a statement: "Today the critical war situation abroad clearly points to the absolute and unqualified necessity of keeping the United States out of this world conflict."

"Senator Burton K. Wheeler is the only outstanding candidate for the presidency who has stated unconditionally that he would never permit this country to become involved in a European war."

"He has repeatedly said that he would never support a proposal which would send American boys to fight on foreign soil. This is the assurance that all peace-loving Americans want from their leaders."

Both Wheeler and Clark voted against last year's neutrality bill lifting the arms embargo. Wheeler has said that he would not be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination if Mr. Roosevelt runs, but has expressed the view that the Chief Executive would not seek a third term.

Secretary Coker, a third term advocate, told reporters yesterday that if the President was reelected, he would resign from the cabinet and say "thanks for the buggy ride."

Mr. Roosevelt and Thomas E. Dewey are leading in the races for the Democratic and Republican presidential nominations, as far as pledged delegates go.

New Mexico Republicans selected six uninvited delegates in a convention yesterday. Republicans pick 22 delegates today at an Iowa convention and 12 more delegates in Missouri district conventions. Both groups are expected to be uninvited.

Supporters of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio said he probably would enter no primaries except in his home state, where he is unopposed for the Republican presidential nomination. They added, however, that there was "more of a possibility" that he would enter Maryland's primary than West Virginia's.

LESS TAXATION AND MORE JOBS URGED

COLUMBUS, O., April 12—Less taxation and more jobs were prescribed for this nation's economic ills by rival candidates for the Republican U. S. senatorial nomination at the May primary in separate addresses last night.

Mayor Harold H. Burton of Cleveland said in Springfield that "America's greatest need in farm and factory is a constructive program for economic recovery. The Republican party, and Ohio in particular, should take a constructive leadership in helping the people earn their way back to recovery."

Congressman Dudley A. White of Norwalk asserted in Newark that "too large a share of the national income is being consumed by taxation, thereby continuing unemployment instead of creating jobs. In the last two years the proportion of indirect taxes to the total has been 52 per cent."

DIES WITNESS CHARGES SON KILLED BY REDS

WASHINGTON, April 12—A Dies committee witness testified today that his son and several other boys who went into the Spanish civil war under auspices of the Friends of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade were killed to Communist activities in Spain.

The testimony came from Maxwell Wallace of Detroit as the house committee investigation of Un-American activities turned to a study of enlistments in the United States for the Spanish Republican cause.

The witness said of his discussions in New York with the boys "who did return": "My reaction was their dissatisfaction with the personnel in charge; the entire movement in Spain was operated for a selfish motive; men were treated worse than dogs."

WEATHER

regular employees were sent out on county roads with a mixture of sand and calcium chloride which was spread at intersections and curves.

At 8 this morning regular crews of the city service department were "milling down" street intersections in the business district. Motorists were advised this morning by the Marion subdivision of the state highway patrol that highways were "slushy and slippery in spots," but that with careful driving, there should be no danger.

Eight-Inch Drifts

Traffic was snarled in the Lake region by a heavy blizzard which coated highways with ice. A four-inch snowfall drifted to a depth of eight inches in Huron county.

The storm leveled off by daybreak, leaving highway crews the problem of clearing roads and warning motorists to be cautious. The mercury skidded to 23 in Cleveland during the night. Findlay, Toledo and Springfield reported readings of 24. It was 27 in Dayton. The temperature dropped to 22 at Columbus, lowest ever recorded there on April 12. It was a 31 degree drop from yesterday's high.

The state highway patrol reported control Ohio roads clear. The Huron county snow caused two trailer-trucks to jack-knife across U. S. Route 2, stalling 400 automobiles for two hours. More than a dozen cars were marooned several hours on a new highway between Oberlin and Kiplin.

The highway patrol said the storm made driving "extremely hazardous" near Lima, Findlay, Elyria, Painesville, Sandusky, Chardon and Ashland.

Ohio River Up

The Ohio river rose slowly at Cincinnati, where yesterday's rainfall totaled 1.2 inches.

Airline flights were resumed from Cleveland and Columbus after planes were grounded all night.

The sand-sucker hydro of the Kelley Island Lime & Transport Co. fleet went aground on a sandbar west of Vermilion as a 35-mile gale lashed Lake Erie. Lorain coast guardsmen and the crew of the tug Arizonia freed the sand-sucker.

Lieut. George E. Stanley, 30, of Hartford, Conn., made two forced landings at Dover Center, just west of Cleveland, as he encountered the storm while returning to Mitchell Field, L. I., on the last leg of a cross-country training flight.

An observation pilot in the Connecticut National Guard, Lieutenant Stanley flew by radio beam until he was over Warren, O. There his radio failed and he flew blind toward Cleveland airport. He took off shortly afterward, but was forced to land again on another highway. He was uninjured.

BERLIN

the relief as a result of the Scandinavian coup. Chief results, they said, would be:

1. Suspension of the operation of Norwegian and Danish merchant vessels which have been carrying vital supplies to England from the ports of the world.

2. Paralysis of English imports from the entire northern area of Europe through German control of access to the Atlantic.

3. Shifting of the bulk of northern European trade to Germany for the duration of the war.

Germans said that Great Britain had obtained through northern trade routes 37 per cent of her egg imports and 60 per cent of her pork imports.

In addition to these commodities, Britain also obtained large supplies of ore, whale oil, fish, hides and fur from Norway.

Informed sources said that Germany could supply Norway with coal, chemicals and machinery. For other imports, such as textiles, foodstuffs and minerals, these sources said, Norway "will of course remain dependent on the supplies she is able to import outside the British sea war zone and mine blockade."

CRASH KILLS TWO

NORWALK, O., April 12—The crash of their automobile into a bridge yesterday fatally injured Jacob Blatt, 52, retired Pittsburgh clothing merchant, and his wife, Clara, 46. Mrs. Blatt died last night and her husband succumbed today.

MINE BLAST BLAME PLACED ON POWDER

Strain Holds Magazine Cause of Disaster.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., April 12—George A. Strain, state director of industrial relations, expressed belief today that a powder magazine explosion was responsible for the March 16 Willow Grove mine disaster, fatal to 72 men. He said he did not know what ignited the powder.

The director's finding was based on testimony given by state and federal inspectors, experts and miners in an investigation of Ohio's second worst mine catastrophe.

Strain found that a "propagated dust explosion" was responsible for the severity and wide extent of the blast three miles deep in the "drift" or horizontal mine.

"The evidence," he added, "did not support the presence of gas as the probable cause." While there was evidence that an overcharged match could have caused the explosion, Strain discounted this theory.

He indicated his report would conclude the state investigation unless additional information was provided.

HOLLAND

secretary, because he did not have as much control as he wanted.

Then he became associated with the Glidden Co. as head of the Holland Mills at Piqua. He told of starting up several retail outlets with himself as a partner, but contended the Glidden Co. knew about them. Company officials had testified that when they found out about them Holland was called in and told to devote all his time to the mill or resign. Holland was getting $500 a month from the Glidden Co. then.

Last Oct. 15, Holland quit and later started up his own mill at Piqua in competition.

Holland was questioned at length about his association with Dowty, whose confession resulted in the charge being filed against him. Holland testified he had employed Dowty when he was manager of the Holland Mills and that Dowty was often in trouble, frequently laid off for infractions of rules. He told of periods of moroseness experienced by the worker and said he couldn't get along with the men. Dowty cost the mill considerable money at times by dumping a load of wheat into the only bin, letting the molasses tank run over and burning into a motor, Holland said.

Tells of Dowty's Discharge

Holland said Dowty was eventually discharged.

Holland told of the amount of money he handled at Old Fort Mills. He said in the first year 300,000 bushels were bought. The next year 1,500,000 bushels were purchased at from 70 cents to $1 bushel. Holland said he handled all the money.

He also told of his career in the army and afterwards was asked his rank. He hesitated a moment and replied he was one of the few "buck privates" left in the army.

WORRY OVER STUDIES LEADS PUPIL TO SUICIDE

By The Associated Press
FINDLAY, O., April 12—Robert Glasco, 17, was listed by Findlay High school to graduate with his senior classmates in June. But he had worried over his studies. This despondency, said Coroner H. O. Crosby, prompted Glasco to kill himself with a rifle shot fired in the heart. A suicide verdict was returned.

G. R. Consten, high school principal, said the youth's name already had been listed for a diploma.

WON'T STOP POT O' GOLD

WASHINGTON, April 12—The justice department has decided not to institute "prosecutive action" against the "Pot o' Gold" and "Meat's Bakery" radio programs.

ORDERS DOG QUARANTINE

SPRINGFIELD, O., April 12—Dr. O. M. Craven, city health director, ordered Springfield dogs quarantined 60 days, effective today, after finding two rabid dogs. Dr. R. R. Richardson, Clark county health director, said the county board would consider a similar order.

WAR BRIEFS

SWEDISH TANKER SUNK

LONDON, April 12—Sinking of the 8,076-ton Swedish tanker Sveaborg off the Scottish coast was announced today by the London representatives of her owners, who said they understood the vessel had been torpedoed. The crew was believed saved.

NAZI SHIP SEIZED

LONDON, April 12—A German trawler, captured off the Norwegian coast, was taken into a northeast Scottish port today.

BRITISH TO FLEE?

BERLIN, April 12—Discussing reports that Britain had occupied Denmark's Faroe Islands, an authoritative German commentator said today "the real purpose is to have a mid-Atlantic base to facilitate the flight of the British government to Canada."

Noting the effect this remark produced, the German added: "You smile, my good American friend, but some one in England is seeing the shadow of coming events."

The commentator asserted that it "would not be surprising if the British seize Iceland on the pretext that we want it—which we don't."

NAZIS HONOR GENERAL

BERLIN, April 12—Reichsfuehrer Hitler, Col. Gen. Walther Von Brauchitsch, commander-in-chief of the German army, and other high army leaders, and members of the government today attended obsequies for Artillery General Karl Becker at the Berlin polytechnical school.

Von Brauchitsch eulogized Becker, who died Wednesday at the age of 61, as one of Germany's outstanding soldiers and scientists. He was a renowned ballistics expert.

12 PIGS SUFFOCATED WHEN TRUCK UPSETS

60 Others Unhurt in Accident West of Marion.

Twelve pigs were suffocated when a truck in which they and approximately 60 other pigs were being hauled upset on Route 30-S eight miles west of Marion about 9:30 last night. The pigs which escaped death enjoyed a few minutes of freedom, escaping from the overturned truck and roaming in nearby fields until they could be placed in another truck.

State Patrolman W. D. Busch, who investigated the accident, said the truck, driven by Donald C. Reader of Delaware, was enroute to the George Van Brummer farm near Delaware.

Mr. Reader told Patrolman Busch he was unable to see the road because of snow and ice had formed on the windshield and that the truck got over onto the berm and mired. While Mr. Reader went to neighbors to call a wrecker to free the truck, it sagged in the soft berm and overturned causing the pigs to pile up in the truck.

By the time Mr. Reader returned to the truck, he told the patrolman, 12 pigs had died from suffocation. He released the other pigs rather than have them meet a similar fate. Patrolman Busch saw the pigs, all about half-grown, romping on the highway and in nearby fields for about an hour until another truck arrived from Delaware.

PRESIDENT SIGNS TRADE EXTENSION BILL TODAY

WASHINGTON, April 12—President Roosevelt signed the reciprocal trade extension act today, providing for three more years of executive authority to bargain for foreign trade.

The Chief Executive brought three pens into use for his signature on the Secretary Hull, who has made the trade agreements a keystone of foreign policy, and one each for Senator Harrison Doughton (D-Mc.) and Representative Doughton (D-N.C.), the men who shepherded the controversial proposal through congress.

Had not the extension been approved—final congressional action came April 5 on a 42-37 vote in the senate—the authority for President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull to make the reciprocal agreements would have expired June 12. The power was extended to June 12, 1943.

C.I.O. LEADER ASKS MACHINES' CONTROL

Murray Hits Use of New Labor Saving Devices.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 12—A demand that congress regulate introduction of labor-saving machinery and other mass production tactics which displace workers was presented to the monopoly committee today by Philip Murray of the C.I.O.

"Why should workers and their families be thrown to the wolves today, just because industry says it has found a new machine that will benefit society tomorrow?" the blunt-spoken labor leader asked.

Murray, chairman of the Steel Workers Organizing Committee, suggested a "national conference on unemployment" by leaders from industry, government, banking, farming and labor to work on the "most crucial problem confronting our economy."

The failure of employment to keep pace with production.

The steel union spokesman contended that labor-saving machinery, such as automatic machine rolling mills, had permanently displaced more than 30,000 in this industry in the last 10 years, created "ghost towns," and imposed a heavy burden on society by adding to unemployment and relief loads.

Returning survivors of Wednesday's blazing battle at Narvik said that about 50 men of the British destroyer Hardy, which was wrecked and run aground in that battle, made a landing under fire of the German shore batteries, apparently determined to continue the fight.

Eyewitnesses aboard the destroyers Hotspur, Hostile and Navock, which managed to withdraw from the fight, said their comrades aboard the Hardy were last seen landing with rifles and ammunition.

The fate of the Hardy's survivors, however, is not known. They have not been reported since the battle, except for German accounts of having captured prisoners at Narvik. One port about the Arctic circle.

The British admit that another destroyer, the Hunter, was sunk at Narvik.

GREEN BACKS CHANGE IN LABOR BOARD LAW

A. F. L. Head Urges Support of Norton Measure.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, April 12—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor asked the house today to approve the Norton amendments to the Wagner act, but the rival C.I.O. was buttonholing congressmen to vote against them.

"In our opinion," Green wrote all house members, "these amendments are reasonable, highly necessary, and if adopted will serve to promote a better and more satisfactory administration of the national labor relations act."

On the other hand, John L. Lewis had dispatched a letter to all C.I.O. unions urging them to "mobilize labor's full strength" to block the proposed changes.

The amendments, by Chairman Norton (D-NJ) of the labor committee, would add two new members to the three-man labor board, and would make it mandatory for the board to grant to craft workers—if they desire it—a bargaining status separate from other plant employees.

House members who want to amend the act are split between the Norton amendments and 17 recommendations of the Smith investigating committee for sweeping revisions. The latter would set up an entirely new board and separate its judicial and administrative functions.

NORWAY

"We shall take what we want" on Norway's coast, he said, when the fleet has reached its primary goal—entire destruction of Germany's sea power.

Although Churchill said at that time the allies had seized no points on the Norwegian coast, Swedish reports of such actions persisted. One of these said a naval engagement was in progress at Trondheim, another that British warships appeared to be landing men from outer Oslo fjord, and yet another that British forces had landed south of Narvik and were striving to join Norwegian defenders. Still another report said the British and Norwegians already were "in close contact near Bergen."

Survivors of British Ship on Norse Soil

LONDON, April 12—Britain today received the story of what is believed to have been the only landing yet made by any British fighting men on the Norwegian coast.

Returning survivors of Wednesday's blazing battle at Narvik said that about 50 men of the British destroyer Hardy, which was wrecked and run aground in that battle, made a landing under fire of the German shore batteries, apparently determined to continue the fight.

Eyewitnesses aboard the destroyers Hotspur, Hostile and Navock, which managed to withdraw from the fight, said their comrades aboard the Hardy were last seen landing with rifles and ammunition.

The fate of the Hardy's survivors, however, is not known. They have not been reported since the battle, except for German accounts of having captured prisoners at Narvik. One port about the Arctic circle.

The British admit that another destroyer, the Hunter, was sunk at Narvik.

WAR AGAINST GERMANY WOULD SIMPLY BE SUICIDAL FOR SWEDEN particularly the populous Southern part of the country. The Allies are too far away to help the Swedes quickly and that is the kind of help they would need.

Also, a British-French expedition against the Swedish iron mines might bring the legions of Russia rolling across weakened Finland.

While protection of her supplies of iron ore is believed to be Germany's prime military objective in invading Scandinavia, another possible aim is the setting up of air bases in western Norway for raids on British naval and merchant vessels.

The Nazis also might try to use western Norwegian harbors as refueling stations for their submarines operating in the North sea and the Atlantic.

port them across the North sea and land them.

It is estimated it would take the British two weeks to put 50,000 soldiers and their equipment ashore at a northern Norwegian port even if the landing were not resisted.

The Nazis probably would have a pronounced superiority in aerial warfare above Norwegian soil. They can quickly establish air bases and use Norwegian stations while the air force of an Allied expedition would have to operate from aircraft carriers, which are not feasible bases for big bombers.

Stretching Nazi Lines

Allied troops entrenched in western or northern Norway would, of course, compel Germany to keep a fairly large army in that country, stretching her communication lines considerably.

The Nazis, however, could put 500,000 troops in Norway and Denmark and still have enough men to hold the Siegfried line.

Icy Weather Hits Week-End Sports

Prospect Track Meet, Harding Grid Practice Game Delayed; Golfers Unhappy but Inter-City Bowlers Are Unconcerned.

Ice skating, skiing and bob-sledding seemed likely to replace several sports attractions, cancelled today when Old Man Winter played an unpopular return engagement by swathing the country-side in a blanket of ice and snow that chilled the ardor of the most enthusiastic followers of warm weather activities.

Co-sufferers as the result of the cancelled cards were scholastic track and gridiron fans. Their only bit of consolation came from the companionship in misery of spring golf bugs, who likewise were driven from the fairways by the chill blasts. All, however, appeared resigned to waiting for a change might bring them a chance of going into action before the week-end passes.

Football Delayed

Topping the scholastic sports card, frozen out by the wintry blasts, were today's Marion Harding-Mansfield practice football game and a dual track meet matching Prospect and Columbus North. Coach Bill Williams reported early today that the Harding-Tyger warm-up session will be put off till Tuesday, with the return engagement also being re-scheduled. The Presidents were to have visited Mansfield this afternoon and played the role Tyger host next Friday.

At Prospect, where snow and ice covered the cinder path, the wheasers were suggesting that Coach Paul Keller might equip his thin clads with snowshoes, parkas, et al. Keller deemed it wiser, nonetheless, to postpone the meet until next week.

Bowlers Don't Mind

Despite all the consternation caused by the skidding thermometers one sports group of the city remained unperturbed, and well they might. For they, the city's bowlers, alone boast the advantage of being unmolested by weather changes, hot or cold, wet or dry. Regular league play was to continue tonight and everything was in readiness for the sixth week-end invasion of pin-loppers.

coming here for the Inter-City bowling tournament.

Similarly the trio of Marion pin artists didn't appear to mind the weather as they embarked for the national Knights of Columbus tourney at Buffalo, N. Y. The group, Lee Schuler, Gene Gunder and Arthur Wintersteller, left for Cleveland where they were to take a special train to the tourney battleground. Their team was to be rounded out by Lou Sander and Larry Smith of Sandusky.

This week's Inter-City schedule brings 22 visiting teams to the local scene. They will roll in five-man and individual events starting tomorrow at 7 p. m. and continuing until late Sunday night.

The Inter-City schedule follows: Saturday—7 p. m., Jackson Pies and Camp Troy of Troy, Commodities Cleaners of Logansport, Triangle Bowling Shirts of Sandusky, Tarbox-McCall and Hochstetler Coal of Findlay, 10 and 11 p. m., individual events.

Sunday—1 p. m., Eagles No. 2246 of Montpelier, Elks Grill, W. & S. Brunswick, Cooper Corp., and Findlay Body Repair of Findlay, Sipe Chevrolet, Schick Buicks and Little Joe's of Cambridge, 3 p. m., Baltimore Chips and Schwable Hardware of Tiffin, Lima Cooperative, Dulch's Cafe, Snowflake Cleaners, Harley-Davidson, Lima Telephone and American Legion of Lima, 5, 7, 8, 11 p. m., individual events.

NEVADA IN PIN MEET

Nevada of Wyandot county will be represented in the five week-end tournament of the Ohio State bowling association, opening tonight at Toledo. The thirty-seventh renewal of the state meet has attracted an entry list of 354 teams. Squads from Cincinnati, Dayton, Findlay, Columbus, Akron, Cleveland and Nevada will roll during the first week-end of competition.

The "Big Train" Runs for Congress

By PAT ROBINSON

International News Service Writer
NEW YORK—A little piece in the paper the other day burned us to a crisp. It said: "Walter Perry Johnson, formerly a pitcher with the Washington Senators, today announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for representative from the 6th District of Maryland."

It was that "formerly a pitcher" that got our goat.

Here we have an unidentified political writer mentioning Sir Walter, the Big Train himself, the idol of the nation's fans for 20 years, the greatest pitcher of all time, who has already been voted into the Baseball Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N. Y., and he lightly dismisses him as "formerly a pitcher!"

That strikes us as being pretty near tops in understatement.

Wonder if that fellow knew he was writing about the fastest pitcher who ever blazed a high hard one past a batter's whiskers? We don't know what kind of a representative the Big Train might make but we can assure that cold-blooded political scribe that he'll be as sincere and honest as the day is long and he won't try to talk congress to death.

One, fault he may have and that is he probably won't ask enough for himself or his constituents.

CHAS. ROOT, CHICAGO CUBS PITCHER—"I'LL STAY IN BASEBALL AS LONG AS THERE IS SOMETHING FOR ME TO DO"

gave them only four hits. There was no Sunday baseball in New York in those days but on Monday he was back on the hill again and this time he gave them only three hits and trimmed them, 4 to 0.

Now there's a record for Dizzy Dean and some of the moderns who think they're pretty good to shoot at. Three games in four days, each a shut-out and each game with fewer hits than the previous one.

Twelve times in his long career he led the league in strikeouts and one year he fanned 313 hitters. The boys couldn't hit what they couldn't see. Back in 1911 he fanned four men in one inning when the catcher dropped a third strike on one of the hitters and let him reach first. Another time he was called in from the bull pen with the bases loaded and none out and fanned three pinch hitters.

And the boys are still trying to equal his record of 56 consecutive scoreless innings.

Well, that's the fellow referred to as "formerly a pitcher with the Washington Senators."

On second thought, maybe that political scribe knew something after all. Maybe he took it for granted that everybody should know Walter Perry Johnson and his record. And if that's the case, we humbly apologize.

Nothing ever disturbed the big blond with the light blue eyes from the day he first came out of the west—a big raw-boned kid with a fast ball that made old timers blink their eyes in amazement. He took bad breaks with enduring calm, showing no resentment and meeting the world with a smile and his chin up.

He won 14 straight back in 1910 and two years later he put together a string of 16 straight that hasn't yet been surpassed in the American league. The following year he won 36 games for a club that was about as good—or as bad—as the Browns are today.

One year he beat the Yankees three times in four days and each game was a shut-out. On a Friday he trimmed them, 3-0, with six hits. The next day he took them over again, 6-0, and this time

CARDINALS PICKED BY SPORTS WRITERS

Reds Lose Only by Narrow Margin in Poll.

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, April 12.—Baseball "experts" as a whole are generally agreed that the 1940 National league race will be a two-team affair, but they are split almost 50-50 on whether the St. Louis Cardinals or the Cincinnati Reds will come home in front, with a slight edge going to the St. Louis entry.

Of 18 sports writers taking part in an Associated Press poll all but three named either the Cards or Reds in the No. 1 spot. The Cards drawing 39 first-place votes to 34 for the defending champions. One long-shot addict picked the Pirates, and two strung along with the Cubs.

Second-place ballots also were pretty well cornered by the 1-2 teams, although nine voters picked the Cubs for the runner-up spot, six named the Giants, four the Dodgers and two the Pirates.

The Phillies, who escaped being a unanimous last-place choice by three seventh-place votes, and the Bees escaped a similar seventh-place designation by drawing one-fourth, one-fifth, two-sixths and three eighth-place votes.

On a point basis—eight for a first, seven for a second, etc.—the Cards edged out the Reds by seven points—557 to 550.

CRIPPLED TRIBE NOT UNHAPPY ABOUT COLD

Three on Injured List, Team Needs More Time.

By The Associated Press

BLUEFIELD, W. Va., April 12.—The Indians aren't too unhappy about the snow and cold weather reported from the north.

Three infielders are on the injured list, another is not in the best of shape and some of the pitchers admittedly need more work before being pronounced ready for the American league season.

Thus some of the players feel it will be to their advantage if a few of the early games are postponed.

The schedule calls for the Redskins to open a three-game series in Chicago Tuesday and play the home inaugural with Detroit a week from today.

Lou Boudreau and Oscar Grimes joined Hal Trosky on the injury list as a result of yesterday's exhibition game with the New York Giants at Danville, Va.

Third Baseman Ken Keltner has been playing in spite of a sinus attack.

Bob Feller, scheduled to hurl seven innings against the Giants here today, will pitch the Chicago opener. Manager Jimmy Dykes of the Chicago said his nominee would be southpaw Edgar Smith.

Norwegian To Battle For Ohio State Star at Sh

Gil Knutson and Stacey Hall Paired for Bout Monday Night.

Gil Knutson, the Norwegian thunderbolt from Edmonton, Can., and Stacey Hall, former athlete great at Ohio State university, will fill the top roles for the heavy-weight headliner on Monday's wrestling show at the Marion Steam Shovel arena.

Hall, until recently was recognized by the Midwest Wrestling association, as the bona fide light heavy-weight titleholder. The former Ohio Stater vacated the throne, however, to move into the heavier weight division.

Has Good Record
Twenty-seven years old Knutson is rated one of Canada's best and has cut quite a swath in his trek through the major centers of the rauliflower industry.

He spent two years in Europe tangling in 1937 and 1938 with some of the foremost grapplers on the continent.

Lot of Misquotin' with Cubs.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 12.—Dizzy Dean was already today to test the "open door" policy of his big boss, P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs.

The stormy one, relatively subdued after wisely admonitions and a night auto trip from St. Louis, said upon his arrival:

"There's been a lot of misquotin'. I don't know where it is. I don't know where it started, but there's been a lot of misquotin'."

"Yes, I'm going to see Wrigley, on orders from Hartnett. (Manager Gabby Hartnett whom Dean earlier was quoted as calling "Picklepuss.")

Dean's arrival climaxed almost 48 hours of fast talk and faster denials following a $100 fine assessed by Hartnett Wednesday for staying out late.

Wrigley, in commenting on Dean's showdown threat, inferred the door was open.

"I am an easy man to see," he averred.

Baseball's Grand Old Man Knows His Stuff
But Maybe He's Slipped in Rating the Young Third This Year.

By LAWTON CARYER

International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK—Either Connie Mack has failed to take some facts into consideration or he is even smarter than his admirers insist he is, the proof of his position to be available in a few months when the baseball season has ended with the New York Yankees dethroned or back on top for the fifth time. Mr. Mack has declared for a second time and with emphasis that the Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians are the fight for the American League pennant and that the Yankees will wind-up in third place.

Based on History

The venerable mascot of the Yankees, White Elephant, has argued on what happened to other great teams of the past. Some of his own. They had become sated with a club simply goes to the other side. It may be, but the experience of Mr. Mack's back to the stone age, it could be siller or more conspicuous than a typewriter. Mack's argument is that the Yankees know that when they finally blow they will begin to suffer financially, with salary slashes inevitable, not to mention the loss of more than $5,000 a year per man from the world series.

Just Didn't Happen

The Yankees, individually and as a team, are probably the best and most reliable club ever whipped together. It didn't happen that way. Manager Joe McCarthy and the front office have only that type of ball player around and they have sufficient talent to replace worn out parts from time to time with exactly the kind of men they want. Hence the team comes very close to perfection in every respect, not overlooking deportment and temperament. They are quiet, genteel and able. You might even call them snobs—but they win. And they will keep on showing a respectable number of victories for their efforts for at least a couple of more years.

We don't see any way, therefore, how they can be eliminated from the race and shoved down into third place with an airy wave of the hand. You've simply got to give them a chance, and figure them as the team the others will have to overhaul, unless, of course, they run into an epidemic of injuries that will shelve their key men. That's about the only thing that can stop them, we think, and once they are stopped they still will have the makings of a comeback club.

Sale Wouldn't Change Picture

If they were to be sold in keeping with persistent reports, it wouldn't have much bearing on them, for the front office brain trust undoubtedly would be left intact to go ahead building and rebuilding.

So what we started out to say is that the Yankees have a great team, well-balanced with veterans and youngsters, a shrewd business personnel, a manager who has proved his worth in both major leagues, and a farm system second to none.

If you can't win with all that, then Mr. Mack sees something undetected by our inept eye.

"Early Bird" Marion Bowlers To Plan 1941 Trip to St. Paul

Group Will Meet Monday Night To Organize Club for Next ABC Tourney.

Marion bowlers will compete in the 1941 American Bowling Congress championship tournament at St. Paul, Minn. Although their participation in the meet is a year away it is timely today because of the plans announced for the organization of a "St. Paul Club" for bowlers planning to make the trip.

The organization is being formed by those who recently returned from this year's ABC meet at Detroit. They will meet Monday night at 9 p. m. to elect club officers and launch a campaign to enlist other interested bowlers. The club will be open to anyone wishing to make the trip.

Tentative plans call for St. Paul Club members to visit the ABC tourney next March or April. The 150-mile journey will be made by rail in a special car.

Among those forming the nucleus of the St. Paul club, most of whom were in the Detroit party, are Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Burtin, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gauder, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Messmore, Mr. and Mrs. Dolph Wolbert, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Applegate, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Greenland, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Winterspiller, Mrs. Gertrude Seebach, Rex Miller, Paul Robbins, Harry Fair, Paul Eshman, Harold Henry and Emerson W. Schoenlaub.

MARYSVILLE SCHOLARSHIP TEAM NAMED FOR TEST

Special to The Star
MARYSVILLE, April 11.—The Marysville high school scholarship team that will go to the district finals in Columbus on May 4 were announced today by Miss Fernie Mills, principal of the local high school.

They are: Algebra, Dorothy Geer and Shirley Kneakbaum; Latin I, Catherine Roosa and Rachel Mills; English 9, Mary Elton Thompson and Mary Jane Wilcox; general science, Wilfred Conrad and Robert Kinkade; U. S. history, Hubert Miller and Malcolm MacIvor; biology, Ruth Pafen and Jeanne Allen; geometry, Mary Banks and Don Bryan; shorthand I, Lois Huffman and Joan Coleman; Latin II, Doris Huffman and Lawrence Gabriel; English II, Edmund Aukonstein and Beula Butler; French I, Wilfred Thorpe and Juanita Keiras; French II, Margaret Rich and Mildred Wolff; world history, Tom Dutro and Leona Thompson; English 12, Ada Hudson and Mary Dolan; English 11, Betty Geer and Veneta Owen; chemistry, Paul Hutchinson and Eugene Burns; shorthand II, Jo Ann Elliott and Mildred Boerger.

Today the two officials came up with their big idea—a fight show between prisoners, staged outside the walls.

At Hatt, Columbus wrestling and light promoter, pledged free use of his "acres" arena, and several referees promised to donate their services. General Henderson predicted the show, planned for the early summer, would swell the prisoner aid fund nearly $2,000.

City League Leaders Win Three Straight; Paulson Team Takes First in Industrial.

Spot Restaurant and Cheney & Son Signs, co-leaders of the City league, trounced foes three straight in Thursday night matches. High scores were: Brickley 258, Henry 674, and Cheney & Son Signs, 1,077 and 2,989.

Paulson's Grill swept three straight from the Marion Paint Co. to break the industrial league deadlock and grab a one-game edge over the second-place Coca Cola entry. Gale Greenland put together rounds of 247-177-201 for a 628 series to get pin-busting honors. The Eagles No. 337 entry led team scoring with 948 and 2,722.
